

September 21, 2010

Dear Chairman Harkin/Obey and Ranking Member Cochran/Lewis:

The Child Care and Early Learning Coalition is grateful for your commitment to expanding young children's access to high-quality early care and learning opportunities, and welcomes the Committee's efforts to ensure a stronger future for the nation. We urge you to ensure that the final appropriations for FY 2011 include a $1 billion increase for the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG), a $990 million increase for Head Start and Early Head Start, and $300 million to support the Early Learning Challenge Fund.

Investing in child care helps low-income parents get a job and stay in the workforce. Despite the importance of child care assistance as a basic support to both helping families work and ensuring that children are in stable and safe arrangements, child care funding remained stagnant for years. Only one in six eligible children were receiving child care assistance when the last estimate was calculated, and eligible population has increased while the number of children receiving assistance has decreased since then. The ARRA funds were welcomed and alleviated some of the shortfall in child care funding. States were able to help families with child care costs and invest in initiatives to bolster the quality of child care. However, significant gaps remain. In many states, families applying for child care assistance are placed on growing waiting lists. Some states have begun limiting help in paying for child care to only those parents receiving or transitioning Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), while hard-working families striving to stay independent are left with few options. An increase of $1 billion in CCDBG for FY 2011 would help to ensure that low-income families who are struggling to get and keep a job can work knowing their children are in safe, stable care.

Head Start and Early Head Start provide much-needed comprehensive support to very low-income children and their families. With ARRA funds, 61,000 more children were able to participate in Head Start and Early Head Start. Early Head Start moved from reaching 2 percent of eligible children and families to about 4 percent. An increase of $990 million in FY 2011 will allow Head Start and Early Head Start to keep classrooms open and continue to serve children as well as help Head Start meet the goals of the 2007 reauthorization.

There is no doubt that states and communities have a long way to go to putting in place early childhood systems of care and education that ensure that all young children, especially low-income children, receive the high-quality learning experiences they need. Funding for the Early Learning Challenge Fund could offer states an important road map for moving forward.

We urge you to also support the $20 million increase in funding for the Early Intervention Program for Infants and Toddlers (Part C) in order to meet the complex needs of young children with disabilities and special needs.

In these challenging economic times, families and children are under tremendous financial strain and struggling to get back on their feet. Increased investments in affordable, high-quality early care and learning programs will ensure that low-income families do not have to choose between a job and their children's health and safety and that more children will receive the strong start they need to enter school ready to succeed.

Sincerely,
