

The National Women's Law Center, African-American Policy Forum, and the Illinois Humanities Council invite you to join us for

The Experiences of African-American Girls in Schools: A Public Forum

Chicago Cultural Center
(78 E Washington Street)
Fifth Floor Millennium Park

Sunday, May 18th
2 p.m.

We are calling on YOU to address the challenges that interfere with the success and achievement of Black girls in schools and elsewhere. We especially want to hear from:

- Black Women and Girls
- Educators
- Parents
- Advocates
- Service Providers
- Community Leaders
- Policymakers
- Clergy

This event is free and open to the public, including all who wish to contribute to and learn from the gathering.

For questions, contact Amy at atannenbaum@nwlc.org or 202-588-5180

This event is co-presented as part of The Collaborative City, a program of the Illinois Humanities Council in partnership with the Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events (DCASE)