

February 7, 2011

Dear Senator/Representative:

The Child Care and Early Learning Coalition urges you to ensure that FY 2011 appropriations are sufficient for the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG), Head Start, and Early Head Start so that 300,000 children do not lose these vital supports. We also urge you to support early intervention programs for infants, toddler and preschool-age children and to initiate the Early Learning Challenge Fund to encourage states to strengthen their early learning systems.

This will help us build a smarter, healthier, and stronger America. Together, these key programs enable low-income parents to afford the reliable child care they need to work and provide at-risk children with the early learning experiences they need for success in school and life.

Investing in early childhood education is a cost-effective strategy—even when trying to reduce the budget deficit. Deficit reduction will come only from wiser investment of public dollars. Starting early is a wise choice. Data consistently show that one of the most effective strategies for economic growth is investing in the developmental growth of at-risk children. Short-term costs are more than offset by the immediate and long-term benefits through reduction in the need for special education and remediation, better health outcomes, reduced need for social services, lower criminal justice costs, and increased self-sufficiency and productivity among families.

America can make social and economic progress with early learning programs, but only if those programs reach the growing number of low-income children. Today, only one in six eligible children receive child care assistance. Only four percent of eligible infants and toddlers participate in Early Head Start and less than half of eligible preschool-age children access the comprehensive supports of Head Start. Demand far outstrips funding. We cannot move forward as a country if we move backward in our current funding for these economically effective programs.

Maintaining funding currently available to states and communities for these important investments keeps parents working, children learning, and the economy moving. We urge you to strongly support America's commitment to the Child Care and Development Block Grant, Head Start and Early Head Start, as well as early intervention programs for infants, toddlers and preschool-age children, and establishment of an Early Learning Challenge Fund.

Sincerely,
