

Social Security: Vital to Maryland Women and Families

Social Security is a family insurance plan that provides retirement benefits and life and disability insurance to Maryland's working families.

- ▲ About 1 in 7 residents about 826,400 people receives disability, survivor, and/or retirement benefits from Social Security.
- 86 percent of residents 65 and older receive Social Security benefits.
- About 64,000 children receive Social Security benefits because of the loss of a parent's income due to death, disability or retirement.
- ♣ About 131,500 disabled workers and their family members receive Social Security benefits.
- ▲ About 66,700 widowed spouses receive Social Security survivor's benefits. (Nationally, women represent virtually all (99 percent) of spouses receiving survivor benefits.)

Maryland women depend on modest Social Security benefits to get by.

- ■ Women are a majority of both adult beneficiaries and beneficiaries 65 and older.
- The average Social Security benefit for women 65 and older is about $12,500 per year, compared to about $16,100 for men 65 and older.
- Older women rely more on income from Social Security than older men do. Median income for women 65 and older living alone is $20,800 per year − and Social Security represents 57 percent of that amount. Median income for comparable men is $25,400 − and Social Security represents 49 percent of that amount.

Social Security is a critical anti-poverty program for Maryland women and families.

- Social Security lifted 240,000 residents out of poverty, including 11,000 children.
- Social Security dramatically reduced poverty rates for women 65 and older: from 39 to 10 percent for all women 65 and older, and from 55 to 17 percent for older women living alone.
- Social Security also reduced the poverty rate for African-American women 65 and older from 40 to 18 percent.
