Check if Schedule O contains a response or note to any line in this Part III [X]

1 Briefly describe the organization's mission: To advance and protect women's legal rights. The Center focuses on major policy areas of importance to women and their families including education, employment, family economic security, and health, with special attention given to the concerns of low-income women.

2 Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ? [ ] Yes [X] No If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O.

3 Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services? [ ] Yes [X] No If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.

4 Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

4a (Code: ) (Expenses $ 2,130,925. including grants of $ ) (Revenue $ ) Reproductive Rights and Health: We protected the health care of millions of women and their families. For example, we actively participated in successful efforts to defeat repeal of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) through public education efforts documenting the devastating harm that would accrue to women in proposed repeal-and-replace bills. We combatted proposed changes to Medicaid - including changes to its financing structure and proposals for work requirements - that threatened the health and economic security of many women of color struggling to make ends meet, including by releasing a report documenting Medicaid's role in directly supporting 4.4 million jobs for women across the country. We successfully combatted efforts to permit the denial of health care and other benefits and legal

4b (Code: ) (Expenses $ 3,290,391. including grants of $ ) (Revenue $ 88,050.) Income Security and Education: We protected and advanced the rights and opportunities of women and girls to secure a meaningful education, including by monitoring and enforcing schools' adherence to the requirements of Title IX of the Education Amendments, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in federally funded education programs. For example, we worked to enforce Title IX's protections for survivors of sexual harassment and assault by 1) filing three lawsuits against a Pennsylvania school district challenging its compliance with Title IX on behalf of survivors of harassment and assault who were pushed out of school, and 2) successfully suing the U.S. Department of Education to obtain documents under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) on the way the Department is handling sexual harassment

4c (Code: ) (Expenses $ 3,036,705. including grants of $ ) (Revenue $ 500.) Workplace Justice and Women's Legal Rights: We worked to enforce, protect and advance the legal protections against sex discrimination in employment. For example, we played a key role in securing from the Obama Administration federal requirements that employers with 100 or more employees submit pay data by gender, race, ethnicity, and job category to the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), giving the EEOC the ability to better identify possible pay discrimination and incentivizing employers to address race and gender wage gaps in their own workplaces. We led successful opposition to the Trump Administration's proposal to eliminate the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs, a leading federal civil rights agency, which is charged with ensuring protections on the grounds of religion, including by 1) engaging in public education efforts that resulted in the defeat of the Russell Amendment to the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), which would have put women, LGBTQ people, and religious minorities at risk by allowing organizations and companies receiving federal grants or contracts to receive a religious exemption from complying with employment discrimination laws, and 2) more broadly, sharing with policymakers and advocates in a series of briefings and webinars the results of a poll we commissioned that found strong public support for rejecting religious exemption laws and for enacting new laws that ensure women receive the health care they need, including abortion. We protected the right under federal regulations to health care coverage of birth control, including by 1) joining with Americans United for the Separation of Church and State in representing students challenging Notre Dame University's refusal of birth control coverage, 2) filing an FOIA request with the U.S. Department of Justice for documents relating to the ways in which the Department is defending the birth control benefit in ongoing lawsuits challenging the benefit, and 3) educating stakeholders about threats to continued birth control coverage through analyses, social media, and speeches. We responded to signals that the Trump Administration planned to roll back strong implementing regulations for Section 1557, a section of the ACA that we were successful in obtaining and that prohibits sex discrimination in federally funded health care, including by filing three FOIA requests with the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) for documents complaints as part of an effort to improve the handling of those complaints. We worked to advance the legal argument that discrimination against individuals on the basis of their sexual orientation or sexual identify is sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX, including by filing a friend-of-the-court brief in the U.S. Supreme Court in Grimm v. Gloucester County School Board in support of the decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit that Title IX prohibits discrimination against transgender students, and by engaging in related efforts with women's rights and reproductive justice organizations to educate the public about Title IX's protections for transgender students. We launched the Let Her Learn campaign, a multi-year public education campaign to highlight and eliminate the barriers that girls, particularly girls of color, face in school and to promote school policies that set them up for academic success; the campaign materials were viewed more than 7 and a half million times, and has sparked advocacy efforts at the state level, including in Connecticut and Nebraska.

We advanced the economic security of women and their families by protecting and securing improvements in key public benefit programs. For example, we secured a $95 million increase in funding for the Child Care and Development Block Grant in the FY 2017 final federal budget and laid the groundwork for still more significant increases in the FY 2018 federal budget by launching the Child Care Now campaign with 150 national and local organizations in a multi-year effort to educate policymakers and the public about the need to invest in high-quality child care, including though convening monthly meetings of the national organizations, distributing weekly updates on child care developments to 300+ state child care advocates, engaging in social media outreach, convening roundtables with business leaders, child care advocates and local officials on the importance of investing in child care, and briefing both federal and state policymakers on the key child care issues needing attention. As the debate on federal taxes increased in the second half of the fiscal year, we educated advocates, policymakers and the public about the impact of proposed budget and tax plans on women and their families, including through 1) analyses of proposals, speeches at rallies, conference calls for thousands of advocates, webinars and conferences for hundreds of individuals, and expanded email and social media efforts, and 2) serving as a key organizer of a national march of about two million people that highlighted the need for tax policies to help those most in need, including women and children.

We advanced the rights of pregnant workers, including by filing a nationwide class action lawsuit under the Pregnancy Discrimination Act on behalf of women working at Wal-Mart who were denied accommodations for temporary physical limitations arising from pregnancy, 2) pressed the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to continue to prioritize enforcement of pregnancy accommodation cases, and 3) continued to educate and engage key stakeholders about the need for additional protections for pregnant workers and the proposed federal Pregnant Workers Fairness Act. broadly, we provided technical assistance, information, and analyses to state-based advocates and policymakers working to secure or advance equal pay, fair scheduling, and pregnant worker fairness measures in numerous states, including Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Vermont, Washington, and in New York City, resulting in improvements in seven states and two cities.

The Center's Controller does the first review internally by matching all the numbers to the financial statements and records, and checking all non-quantitative response for accuracy before a second review is done by the Vice President - Administration and Finance, followed by a third review by the COO & Chief of Staff and then a final review by the President & CEO. The Center's outside legal counsel then reviews the document as needed to answer questions. The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors thereafter reviews the document, and it is then provided to all members of the Board of Directors before it is filed.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c:

Each year, members of the Board of Directors and key employees are required to complete a form disclosing any interests that may give rise to a conflict of interest. These forms are used to help determine issues on which potential conflicts might arise.

compensation comparability from the PRM Consulting Management Compensation Report, Not-For-Profit Organizations. The survey includes a wide range of organizations, and it gives results according to budget size that are highly correlated to compensation rates. As part of the analysis, the outside consultant reviews the Center's benefits for reasonableness and in comparison to other comparable organizations. The compensation information in the 990s of organizations similar to the Center is also reviewed for comparability.

For FY 16-17 (and the prior fiscal year's salary, a portion of which is included in calendar year Schedule J information), the Co-presidents made recommendations to the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors on what the compensation of high-level employees should be, based on the outside consultant's report, for approval by the Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee also determined the compensation of the Co-Presidents, based on the outside consultant's report and the compensation information from the 990s of similar organizations. All deliberations and decisions of the compensation committee are reflected in contemporaneously drafted and approved minutes of the committee.

In the case of the Co-Presidents' compensation for FY 16-17, the Center also engaged a consultant who specializes in retirement-related compensation to create a compensation plan for the Co-Presidents' final terms as co-presidents. They performed an in-depth review of peer organizations and created a compensation plan that was reviewed by outside counsel prior to extensive deliberation by the Center's Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee also consulted with other members of the Board of Directors prior to setting the Co-President's final
