

BRIDGETTE STUMPF:

Bridgette Stumpf, Esq. is the Executive Director of Network for Victim Recovery of DC (NVRDC), a position she has held since co-founding the organization in May 2012. As part of this role, Bridgette developed the Legal Services and Pro Bono Programs at NVRDC, which includes: civil legal assistance to survivors of sexual assault, intimate partner violence, and stalking in DC Superior Court; representation to college campus survivors through administrative judicial hearings, appeals, and formal complaints to the Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights for Title IX violations; and the assertion of crime victims' rights throughout the criminal legal process.

For over a decade, Bridgette has spent her legal career advocating to ensure those impacted by crime are afforded meaningful rights and access to supportive services to mitigate the negative effects of trauma post-victimization. As one of the few victims' rights experts in the country, Bridgette is frequently called to participate in local and national policy conversations around victims' issues—providing expertise to members of the U.S. Congress to increase the transparency of sexual assault prosecutions, and to the DC Council on how to enhance the rights of crime victims through multiple pieces of local legislation.

Bridgette became a certified police instructor in 2009 and is currently part-time faculty at George Washington University, where she teaches Victims, Victimization & the System. She was honored in 2014 by the Women's Information Network (WIN) Young Women Achievement Award (YWA) for her efforts in non-profit advocacy and in 2019 by the Center for Nonprofit Advancement with the Excellence in Chief Executive Leadership (EXCEL) Award, which recognizes innovation, motivation, community building, ethical integrity and strategic leadership.

DAWN JACKSON:

Ms. Jackson represents a diverse group of clients with legal needs in the areas of corporate, administrative, real estate and regulatory law. Ms. Jackson has successfully represented clients in the DC Superior Court, US District Court for the District of Columbia, Court of Appeals, and American Arbitration Association.

She also has extensive experience in providing legal assistance to emerging businesses and advising clients on regulatory compliance. Most notably, Ms. Jackson has a number of accomplishments in litigation and is most proud of the fact that she has successfully obtained millions of dollars for victims of premises liability cases in the District of Columbia and has fought hard against companies to have her clients' voices heard.

Ms. Jackson was one of the co-founders of Baylor & Jackson PLLC. She represented a variety of large municipal and corporate clients. Based on the variety of her legal practice, she was able to provide cutting edge solutions with aggressive and innovative litigation. Ms. Jackson was also an attorney at the Federal Election Commission (FEC). At the FEC, she worked on United States Presidential, Senatorial, and Congressional campaign finance issues, including but not limited to, Gore 2000, Inc., McCain 2000, and 1996 Dole/Kemp. Prior to her position at the Federal Election Commission, Dawn Jackson worked for the Honorable Henry H. Kennedy, Jr. at the United States District Court for the District of Columbia.
